"Buena Vista" Chosen As Title For Cable Street Court

ELSIE CLAYTON WINS $5 IN GOLD

Many Pretty and Appropriate Names Received In Contest Promoted by Mr. and Mrs. Jackson

In the November contest for a $5 gold piece offered by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jackson for a suitable name for their court of six cottages, the title "BUENA VISTA" was chosen by them as the winner. The name was sent to "The Beach News" by Elsie Clayton, of 2375 Etiwanda Street, Ocean Beach. She is just ten years of age and is a bright and clever pupil in grade B at the Ocean Beach Public School. The title "Petit Chateaux" was a close second in the selection, a duplicate of that title already being in existence at Ocean Beach. "La Loma" was also given much consideration.

Congratulations are extended to Miss Clayton on her success and if she will call at "The Beach News" office, a letter of introduction and verification will be given to her to receive the $5 gold piece from the donors.

The appended letter sent by the editor of "The Beach News" to the owners of the six cottages at the corner of Cable Street and Santa Monica avenue is self-explanatory.

ALL THE TIME IS "CLEAN UP" TIME

With the Yuletide season near at hand, the happiness of the holidays will be greatly helped by the "dolling up" of the beach districts. Keep up the clean-up campaign! Put rubbish and old cans in boxes or barrels convenient for removal by the city operating department; destroy all weedy growth and burn up any trash accumulations; thereby helping to make the beach sections presentable and attractive to the thousands of winter holiday visitors. Let clean-up time be all the time.

And an excellent opportunity is offered for the gratification of all needs and desires in the line of plants, flowers, shrubs and trees at the National Fernery and Two-Bit Nursery, 1223 East Eighteenth street, National City, where the proprietor, G. Postal Information For Hastening Christmas Mail

Christmas gifts and cards addressed to points within one day's travel should be mailed not later than December 20; within two days' travel not later than December 18; within three days' travel, not later than December 16; for more distant points, not later than December 14. Parcels and cards for local delivery should be mailed not later than December 22.

Parcels and envelopes may be indorsed "please do not open until Christmas."

The early mailing of Christmas cards is just as important as parcels. Millions of these cards, separate and in envelopes, are mailed each Christmas. Consequently, great congestion and delay occurs in large post offices when they are all mailed within a day or two of Christmas. Therefore, if you want your Christmas greetings to reach your relatives and friends on or before Christmas day, follow instructions relative to mailing early and be certain of delivery before Christmas.

Affix house number and name of street, post-office box or rural route number, either typed or plainly written in ink. A return card should be placed in the upper left corner of every piece of mail. If a tag is used, the address and return card should also be written on the wrapper for use if tag is lost, and copy of the address should be inclosed inside the parcel.

BASKETBALL STARTS AT POINT LOMA

After closing a successful football season, having tied for fourth place in the league standings, Coach William Foote, former University of Minnesota basketball star, is turning his thoughts to producing a winning basketball squad.

Entering the county league for their first basketball season, the Pointers will attempt to finish well up in the finals. With only two lettermen, Paul Markel and Roy Justice, there will be more difficulty in producing a good team, due to the green material of which the team will be composed. As the captain, Ed Dyer, has failed to return to Point Loma this year, there will be the necessity of electing a new captain which will be done in the near future.

Those who turned out for practice were: Clifford Wells, Paul Markel, Roy Justice, Othel Moody, Lester Tank, Sam Lipsett, Horace Dunning, Jack O'Mara, Earl Hagland, Jack Walters and Merwin Clark. There will no doubt be other candidates later in the season.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

Over the week-end the Camp Fire Girls of Point Loma High School took a hike through Balboa Park, including the zoo. Miss Edith Henderson, as leader of the Point Loma Camp Fire group, led the hike. The girls who enjoyed the hike included Mavis Middleton, Ruth Hall, Elizabeth Canaga, Evelyn Einhaus, Elizabeth Einhaus, Catherine Fowler, Marjorie Stalnaker, Jessie Kelly and Margaret Fournier.

TYPISTS WINNERS

"HI-Y" HELPED THE HELPING HAND HOME

The Point Loma Hi-Y Club held a special meeting at the home of one of its members and made jelly for the Thanksgiving dinners of some of San Diego's less fortunate people. The club brought two bushels of apples and under the supervision of Mrs. Markel and Mr. Barnes, the boys turned out the aggregate of one hundred large glasses of jelly. This was delivered to the Helping Hand Home for aged and three orphan homes.

GIRLS ATHLETICS

The 9th, 10th and 12th grade girls came out Wednesday, Dec. 1, for soccer practice and the 8th grade girls will be out the next Monday morning at 8:00 sharp; all girls will report for track practice in connection with soccer. A rigid diet and regulations for sleep will be followed by all girls in training.

OLDER BOYS' CONFERENCE

The annual Older Boys' Conference was held this year in Glandale on November 26, 27 and 28.

The Conference is attended every year by boys belonging to the Hi-Y clubs from all over Southern California. There were nearly 600 present this year. Thirty were there as representatives from San Diego, of which nine were from the Point Loma Hi-Y, those in attendance being Paul Markes, John Zeluff, Cedric Poland, Howard Floor, Jack Ferguson, Walter Moore, William Lear, Horace Dunning and Mr. Hubert E. Barnes.

PERTINENT AND PERSONAL

Street Car Situation

Acting on the protest of a special delegation from Ocean Beach, the city council last Monday unanimously passed a resolution requesting the San Diego Electric Railway Company to eliminate the present shuttle system at certain periods and to re-establish the former through service for all hours of operation. A letter from the street car company to City Manager Rhodes was read declaring that the new transfer service saved the company a loss of about $27 a day, with no change in the regular half-hour schedule. Thus far no action has been taken by the company toward the resumption of the former through schedule and it is authoritatively stated no further decisive steps will be taken until the company has received official notice from the council through the customary channels.

Nearly $3,000,000 For Annual Budget

According to the annual budget agreed upon by the city council this week. About $300,000 more will be spent in running the city in 1927 than was used this year. The total last year was $2,676,767.50. This year it is $2,997,085.99.

Salaries of most department heads were increased this year, including the city manager, the city attorney, the city clerk, the chief of police and the fire chief. Numerous deputies also received substantial increases, as well as employes of the engineering and operating departments.

The total amount to be raised by the 90-cent tax rate in 1927 is $1,228,950. The estimated revenue from other sources in 1927 is placed at $1,269,235. The total to be raised by tax levy, including interest and sinking fund, is $2,997,085.

It is announced that the new tax rate will be lower than the present rate of $2.24, but the assessor is stated to be raising valuations to such a degree that many will be paying more taxes next year, despite any decrease in the rate.

SCHOOL DAYS

We cannot kindle when we will
The fire that in the heart resides;
The spirit bloweth and is still;
In mystery our soul abides.

CHESTNUT DISHES

WHEN roasting chestnuts before the fire, always slit the small end so that they do not burst open too violently. A corn popper is a convenient utensil to use. Shake them over the coals until they pop open.

To prepare chestnuts for various dishes, they are slit at the side and placed in a frying pan with a small amount of fat, stirred until they pop open, then set in the oven for a few minutes. This takes the inner brown coat off with the shell.

Chestnut Souffle.

Mix one cupful of chestnut puree (prepared by boiling or roasting until soft, then until fine and smooth) with one-fourth cupful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of flour, cook with one-half cupful of milk five minutes, stirring constantly; beat the whites of three eggs until stiff, cut and fold into the mixture. Bake as any souffle and serve with:

Cream Sauce.

Mix three-fourths of a cupful of thick cream with one-fourth cupful of milk, beat until stiff, add one-third of a cupful of powdered sugar and one-half teaspoonful of vanilla.

Chestnut Pudding.

Blanch a pint of chestnuts, halve and cook them an hour in a cupful of milk, letting them simmer until soft. Press through a sieve, add a half cupful of sugar, a little salt, vanilla and a pinch of nutmeg. Beat three eggs, separating the yolks and the whites, add the yolks to the chestnut pulp, stir well, then fold in the beaten whites. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake fifteen minutes. Serve hot or cold, with cream or custard.

Chestnut Pancakes.

Beat separately the yolks of three eggs, add three-fourths of a cupful of cream, a tablespoonful each of sugar and butter with sufficient flour to make a batter. Drop on a hot griddle and when well baked on both sides spread with chopped and seasoned chestnuts. Sprinkle with sugar and roll up. Serve hot.

GRANDPA SPEAKS UP

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

A LIMOUSINE is nice to ride in,
A thing to take a lot of pride in,
And even some old open flivver,
In which you mostly shake and shiver,
Will get you there, and do it slicker,
And get you home, and do it quicker,
Than any horse could ever do it,
Your're right, my boy, there's nothing to it.

And I'm not one who sits a-wailing
When age is here and limbs are failing
Because the world is moving faster
And more and more mankind the master
Of air and earth and time and distance.
If you should bring around a yellow
And give a ride to one old fellow.

Though I'm an older man than many,
I hope I'm just as spry as any.
No, not in legs—they wobble maybe;
But lots of ways I'm still a baby,
And in my heart I'm just as sprightly
As if I went a-courting nightly,
My soul still sings, my pulse still quickens;
I'm old, but full of the old dickens.

I'm tired of hearing folks, "Drive slowly,
For grandpa's in." By all that's holy,
I'm sick of being petted, pampered,
And muffled up, and helped, and hampered.
So bring around your road assassin,
With lots of water, oil and gas in,
And pick me up some day, dog-gone it,
And take me out—and then step on it.

The Hotel Stenographer

By Roe Fulkerson

"KELLY, did you ever read the census?" asked the Hotel Stenographer.

"All right," laughed the House Detective. "Why should I read the census?"

"This is not a sell, except as it refers to women," said the girl seriously. "When they took the census of this land of the life insurance agent and the bootlegger, they found out that seven-eighths of the money left by married men in this country comes from life insurance and that only 7 per cent of the real value of human life is covered by insurance.

"Ninety per cent of men fail to reach old age with enough dough to live on and 19 out of every 20 die without providing for their families.

"So 8,000,000 women have to hustle for a living, 35 per cent of the widows in the world are in want and 90 per cent of 'em lack common every-day comforts. Eighty-two per cent of the children have to quit school before they get to the eighth grade.

"These facts and figures, Kelly, gathered by this great and good government, should be taught in every girl's school in the land until the time comes when guys who go courting with a corner of a handkerchief stuck out of their upper coat pocket, substitute a life insurance policy for it. The guy who leads me to the altar with my pretty blue eyes looking confidently up into his will have to show me a $10,000 policy before I move a step. He's got to give me his solemn vow without hesitation or mental reserve that he will get another every time the stork lights on the roof. Love is a fine thing, Kelly, but a life insurance policy is the gnat's whiskers when a man makes love to me."

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

DISEASE AND RADIUM

IF RADIUM is to be the cure-all of our diseases, our country will shortly be the Mecca of the suffering and the hope of the distressed.

There is within the state of New York more of the precious metal than in any other similar area in the world, and the great hospitals are racing with the state authorities to get more.

There is in the whole world a few ounces of radium. A hundred thousand dollars' worth of it can be contained in a small lead tube that you could put in your pocket and never know it was there from its bulk.

There is nothing in the world so nearly like radium as the human mind.

No two things that are so continually active.

Did you ever realize how continuously at work your mind is?

Did you ever try to stop thinking and find out how impossible it is?

Did you ever stop to consider that not a single heart beat, not one function of your body, is possible without some kind of mental action? It is not, of course, conscious effort. You do not think, "I will make my heart beat," but sever the connection between your heart and your brain and see how quickly the heart stops.

We know little or nothing about radium. Even those physicians who are advising its use and spending thousands of dollars in its acquirement are not at all sure that they have discovered a cure for cancer and other malignant growths.

They thought once that bleeding was necessary in a fever, and George Washington died more from the loss of blood than from the disease that attacked him.

The gathering of a considerable fraction of the world's supply of radium in the great hospital institutions of New York, where it will be used by the ablest of the world's physicians, means, however, that the next few years are going to teach us more about its medical properties than we have ever known.

We may find that an all-wise Creator combined in a gram of radium enough medical properties to overcome all disease.

The thing that will solve these problems will be the thing which in its characteristics is most like the thing it is investigating—the power of human thought—the activity of the human brain.

It will be supreme activity pitted against supreme activity, a contest in which reason and imagination working together will be the final victor.

FOR THE GOOSE—

TO BE or not to be married—that's still the question. The look in the eyes of the single woman holdin' aloft her friend's baby ain't no wistfuller than the look in the eyes of the little married woman holdin' aloft her friend's baby lamb.

A lotta famous women gets married so's they can have a manager that'll look after their interests.

GIRLIGAGS

"It used to be that orators placed some restraint on their gestures," says Enfranchised Fannie, "but nowadays cuffs are attached."

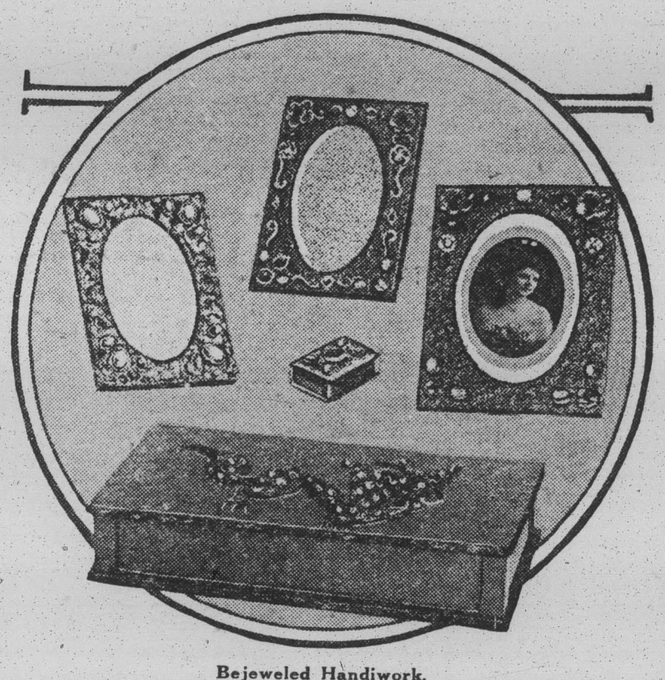
Pretty Things that are Made at Home

"JEWEL" work—it sounds interesting, does it not? It surely is all that and more. In fact, it is so fascinating, once begin it, you will be planning a Christmas present for most everyone you know, bejeweled by your very own handiwork. There is simply no end to the pretty things one can make for the home with just sealing wax and a few colored glass jewels—and the cost is so trifling compared with the looks.

How to do it? Well, here are the directions which follow closely if you want the reward of perfect results. One can pick up such attractively shaped little wooden boxes or picture frames for a few pennies or perhaps you have been treasuring a cunning box or frame wondering "what to do with it." Here's your chance to transform it into a "thing of beauty and a joy forever." In this jewel work you cover your article roughly with melted sealing wax. This is done by melting one end of the stick of wax over a flame until it is very soft. Then dab it on your box or other article until the whole thing is covered roughly. Right here let there be a word of caution. Never under any circumstances attempt this work on a celluloid foundation. The box must be wood or tin, never celluloid, for it is inflammable and even if not in direct contact with the flame, it catches on fire when too near heat. Most everyone is familiar with the handling of sealing wax and it therefore may not be necessary to remind that a simple little wax taper in a candlestick with a good base to catch the melted wax drippings, or a wee alcohol wick as used in pyrography work is sufficient, no large blaze being required. Remember always, "Safety first."

After the box or other article, a tray, a frame or a jewel case perhaps, of wood or tin, but never celluloid, is covered with sealing wax, one begins on the real design. Dab more wax where you want your jewels. Insert them one at a time, by pressing each in its little pile of soft wax. Take your spatula (thin, pliable knife), heat it over the flame and carve the wax around the jewel to form a setting. One can trace or stamp a design on the box, say a Chinese dragon as the motif on the box in the picture shows, or a floral patterning, setting jewels in the center of each flower as has been done on the frames in this illustration. Any colors can be used, but the bronze waxes are the prettiest.

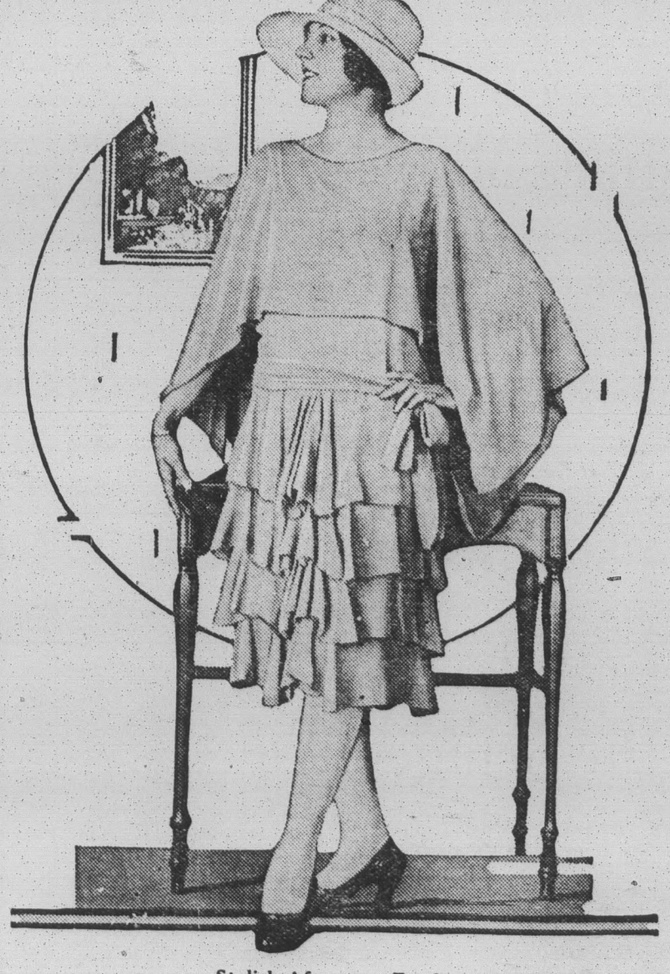
A frock which glorifies the material of which it is made, is the designer's joy and pride this season. A simple silhouette accomplished through an intricate handling of the fabric especially distinguishes the popular velvet frock, also those of solid colored georgette. To be sure, when trimming is conspicuous for its absence, there must be details to supply its place, and genius is admirably answering the challenge. Unique necklines is one way the stylist has of adding a note of interest, then there are unusual sleeves, multitudinous tiers on skirts, graceful blousings to the waistline, not to mention profuse shirring which is one of the dressmaker's chief assets this season.



Bejeweled Handiwork.

Speaking of interesting necklines, the late idea is for huge cape-like collars. Of course these require supple fabric for their styling. The collar or capelet treatment lends itself gracefully to a georgette frock such as the picture shows. In this dainty afternoon dress the designer depends entirely on fabric for effect.

The idea of many ruffles or tiers on the skirt obtains in endless versions throughout the mode. The latest is the ruffled velvet frock. At first thought this sounds impossible unless one is acquainted with the new velvets, which are as supple and easily manipulated as the sheerest chiffon.



Stylish Afternoon Frock.

Fabric this season makes an eloquent plea through color. Again velvets triumph in this respect. Queen Marie blue and Rumanian purple pay compliment to the royal visitor we have with us. Beige velvet is also very highly regarded and as for black, the woman who owns not a black velvet gown this season will be the exception, not the rule

For evening chiffon is a desired fabric. There are any number of black chiffon frocks.

The Lincoln Clay Products company, Inc., at Lincoln, is making a survey for a new clay products plant at a location one-quarter of a mile south of its clay mine and closely adjacent to the town limits of Lincoln. It reserved two railroad track crossings to its property when it deeded a strip of land to the town of Lincoln for a highway, and is now asking the state railroad commission for a relocation for one of these rights-of-way some 550 feet north of a point where the southern terminus of the state highway points the town of Lincoln highway. It is just a matter of greater convenience to the company to enter its plant location at the point noted, which crosses the state highway.

In development of a new theory concerning the origin of the Coast Range Mountains upon which he has been working for several years, Prof. B. L. Clark of the department of Paleontology of the University of California has just completed a paper which he read before the American Petroleum Engineering Society conference at Los Angeles recently and which he will publish shortly. Professor Clark has long supported a belief that the Coast Range mountains were formed by block movements of the earth's crust rather than by folding, as is the general belief, and now he says he has accumulated sufficient evidence to warrant publishing an explanation of his theory.

This is following a program of the chamber of commerce to develop the historic possibilities of the county. Michigan Bluff, in the heart of the old historic mining country where the thrilling scenes of the California gold rush were enacted, is unusually well situated, says Bedell, for a summer camping ground.

Fifty-six years of continuous voting, fifty-four years of which have been in the same precinct, is the record Stephen Quale, retired farmer of Hinters district, Sacramento county, offers. Quale says that he has not missed a state or national election in that length of time, and has voted the Democratic ticket in every election. Coming to Sacramento in 1868, Quale received his naturalization papers in 1870 and cast his first vote in the city of Sacramento the following day. His first presidential vote was cast for Horace Greeley.

The best paying customers of Marysville merchants henceforth will be employes of the city government. Business men, according to word received in Sacramento, appeared before the Marysville city council a short time ago, with the complaint that several municipal employes had unpaid bills, some due for several years. Whereupon the city fathers dug up an 1897 law for precedent and decreed that all city workers who haven't paid their debts by the next meeting of the council will be fired.

CHRISTMAS BUNDLES

It was on the train. There were so many bundles and packages and they were all being taken by members of different families to the members of families at home.

The train was filled with people going home. There were grown-up members of families coming home from business places, there were children coming home for the holidays from school.

But the bundles took up almost as much room as the people.

There was a sled sticking way out of its paper as though to say that perhaps it was wrapped up but it was going to let people into a secret that it was a sled and that it would be ready to use soon.

And there were all other sorts of bundles, too. There were huge boxes, and odd-shaped parcels wrapped in all sorts of ways.

But the most interesting bundle of all was opened on the train.

It was a big cage and in it was a canary. The canary looked about the train filled with people and felt just a little nervous at first.

Then the one who was taking the canary along to the end of the journey as a Christmas present talked to the bird and soothed him so he felt quite comfortable and at home, even in the train.

The people talked, but they did not make the bird frightened by going up to the cage.

The bird so enjoyed having the warm wrappings taken off.

Of course there had been plenty of air for the canary but now he was so much more comfortable.

He was quite young and really quite tame. And somehow he seemed to know that he was going to be a present for some one who would care for him and who would love him.

A big brother was taking the canary home as a gift to his little sister.

An then, all of a sudden, after the conductor had announced what would be the next stop and the people all settled themselves comfortably in the train, for they knew the next stop would not be for quite a number of minutes, the little canary began to sing.

"Oh, Brother, How Wonderful!"

How he did sing. Above the noise of the quickly moving train, above the sounds of the people's voices, above the clatter of the wheels his voice rang out and twirled and thrilled.

How he loved the sound and the gayety and the noise.

How he loved the excitement of which he was a part without being made to feel nervous.

How he loved hearing his own voice. More and more turns and trills he tried, more and more did his little throat tremble with the beauty of his singing.

Then he stopped.

"Last stop," the conductor called out. The canary was wrapped up once more.

Every one was putting on wraps and hurrying toward the door.

There were voices on the station platform.

Gay, happy voices, greeting other gay, happy voices.

And the sound of his master's voice and the sound of the voice of his new mistress.

"Here's the little singer for your Christmas, sister."

"Oh, Brother, how wonderful."

And through the wrappings, just through where the air reached the little bird he sent forth a tiny peep-peep of welcome, and he heard, as some one passed,

"Oh, the person who gets that bird is lucky. Why he sang a bird's Christma scarols for us all the way and made the trip seem so short and so merry!"

Jane came over to Hilda's house every day, and although Hilda liked to play with her, she wasn't satisfied always to play in her own yard. One day she plucked up courage to say, "I wish, Jane, you'd stay at home once in a while, so I could go over and see you. I'd like to go visiting sometimes myself."

VITAMINS IN CANNED PINEAPPLE

CAPTURING vitamins and keeping them is the greatest game of food scientists today. In the case of canned pineapple, sunshine captures the valuable vitamin and canning keeps it. After that the game is easy—any one can eat pineapple because pineapple is easy to eat.

Over there in Hawaii, whence comes our canned Hawaiian pineapple, great plantations of pineapple are spread out like a magic carpet in the sunshine of the tropics. There the fruit absorbs sunshine for eighteen months. Being an "air plant," it lives on air and sunshine, and sunshine scientists tell us is largely responsible for the presence of vitamin D. This particular vitamin is beneficial for children since the presence of it prevents rickets.

Other mysterious forces, which only Nature understands, are busy in the meantime capturing two other vitamins, found especially in fruits—Vitamin B and Vitamin C. The former is very essential for children because experiment shows that without Vitamin B young animals soon cease to grow and finally die.

Once captured, the next step is keeping these vitamins. Just as soon as the pineapple is fully ripened in the fields, it is rushed to the big canneries, canned quickly, so that even that most volatile of vitamins, Vitamin C, may have no chance of escape. Canned foods retain vitamins in greater amount than home-cooked foods, recent research at Columbia University has established, due to the intense heat used in the quick process of canning and certain conditions in the sterilizing process.

CO-OPERATION WINS

San Diego, Nov. 27, 1926.

My dear Mr. Smith:

The San Diego County Community Chest organization joins me in thanking you most cordially for your share in making this year's appeal a success.

It is such cooperation as was extended in the columns of the papers which has made the entire campaign a pleasure to those taking part in it.

DO YOUR "BIT"—CO-OPERATE!

By James Edward Hungerford
In "Drug Topics"

(Contributed by F. H. Kraft)

If you'll do your "bit" for OTHERS,
As you do your daily "bit,"
And not overlook your brothers,
You will gain a LOT by it!
Profit, progress, power, position—
They'll be yours, as sure as fate,
If you'll cease from competition,
And instead—CO-OPERATE!

Those intent on only "GETTING"—
Get but LITTLE, in the end;
All their days are filled with fretting,
As down life's pathway they wend;
If you'd put REAL life in living,
Then with OTHERS you must share
Some of what the world is giving
YOU—of blessings, rich and rare!

BROTHERHOOD! Our Nation's founded
On this word, its breadth and length;
In our hearts it's firmly grounded,
For "in union there is STRENGTH"!
You'll be helped, by helping others,
In your city, town, or State;
"GET TOGETHER" with your brothers—
Do your "bit"—CO-OPERATE!

CABRILLO THEATRE

Owing to the popular demand for "We're in the Navy Now," with Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton, the picture will be shown at the Cabrillo Theatre starting Friday.

Haunting memories of 1917—long columns of stern-faced marching men—flags waiving—cheering crowds—newspaper headlines—khaki and blue side by side—

Into this seething whirlpool are cast the fortunes of Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton, prize-fighter and manager, in their latest Paramount comedy effort, "We're in the Navy Now."

Edward Sutherland's capable direction is at all times evident. John McDermott prepared the scenario from Monty Brice's original story.

DEMISE OF MRS. GIST

The passing is announced at Pacific Beach, November 27, of Matilda Gist, wife of Joseph Gist, mother of Olive B. and H. A. Gist, San Diego; Mrs. A. M. Crosier, and Mrs. Mabel C. Beers, Portland, Ore.; a native of Indiana; aged 86 years.

ANGEL OF DEATH CALLS MRS. A. G. SPALDING ON HER JOURNEY HOME

At the age of seventy years, Mrs. Elizabeth Churchill Spalding, widow of the late A. G. Spalding and for almost 30 years a resident of Point Loma, died last Friday morning at Vancouver, B. C., where she had been stricken with sickness while journeying home from New York by way of Canada. Mrs. Spalding left San Diego last April for a tour of Europe with Mrs. Katherine Tingley, and returned with her in November. It is stated that Mrs. Spalding and Katherine Tingley of the Theosophical institute, had been friends for more than 30 years and the noted theosophist's decision to establish headquarters on Point Loma was based largely on a preliminary survey made by Mrs. Spalding 30 years ago. At the reorganization of the Theosophical society in 1896 Mrs. Spalding, then Mrs. Mayer, was appointed a cabinet officer in the Universal Brotherhood organization, a position she retained until her death. The only members of her immediate family who survive Mrs. Spalding are her son Durand Churchill and the latter's three children. The body has been cremated and the ashes are to be sent to San Diego. Memorial services will be held later in the Temple of Peace, on Point Loma.

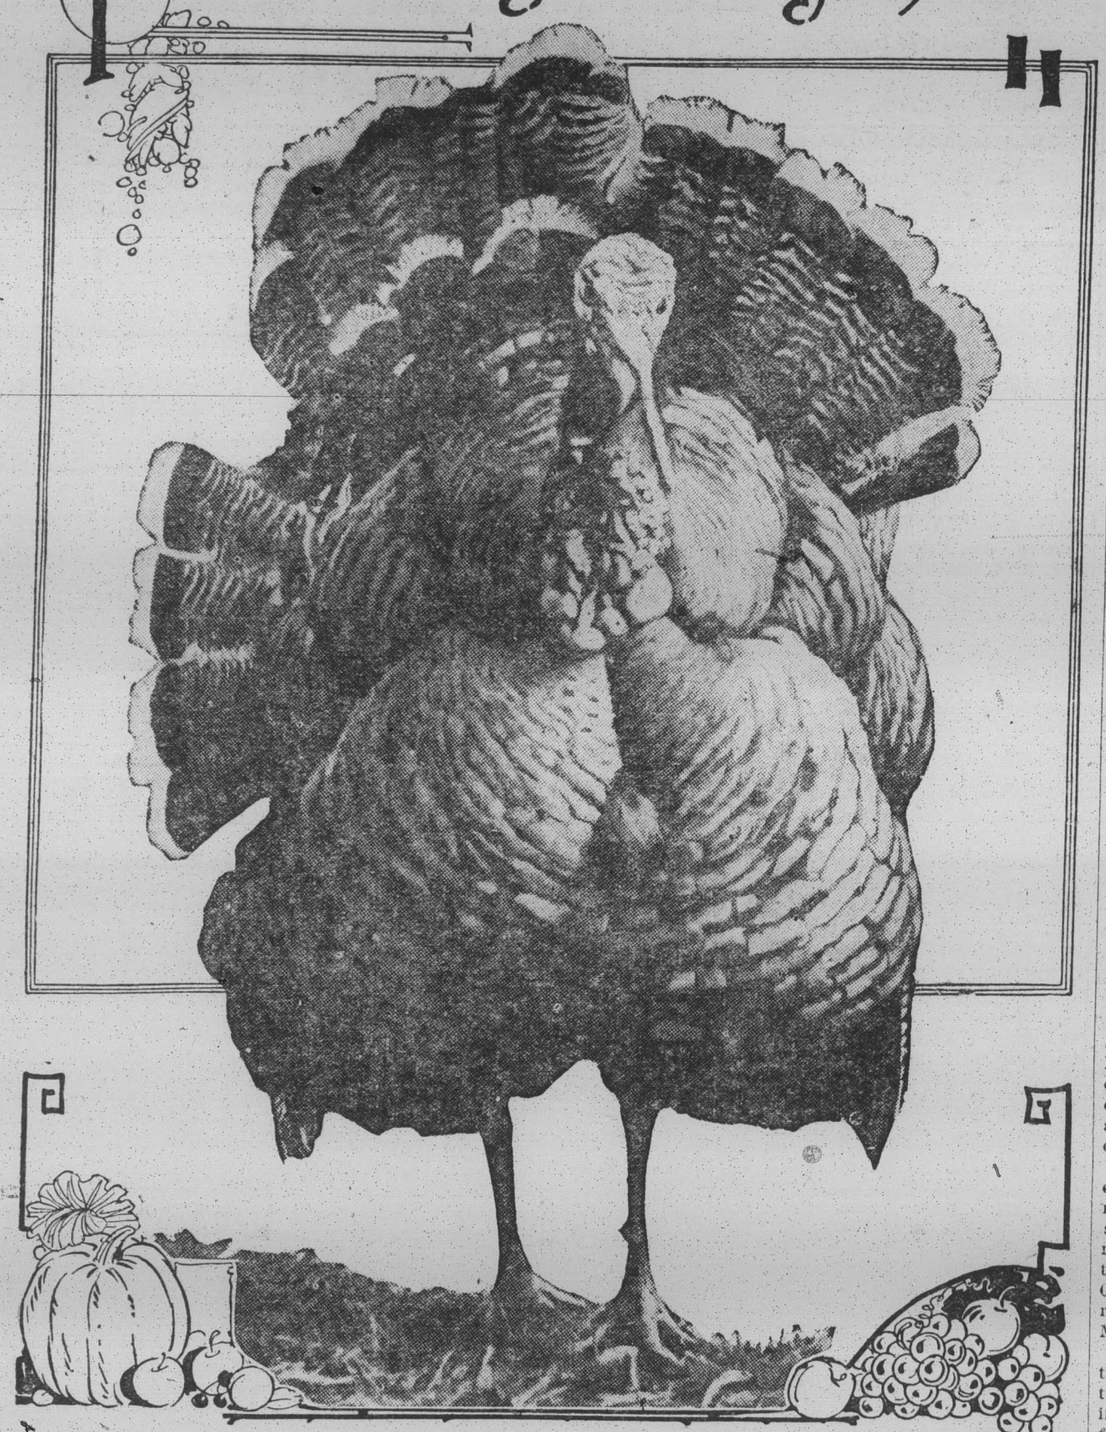
Thanksgiving, 1926



THE festival of harvest time is upon us. We are anticipating the good fellowship and the prospect of the happy reunions which are accompaniments of this annual celebration. Perhaps, then, it will not be amiss if we dwell a little upon the deeper significance of Thanksgiving.

It is always an interesting adventure and often profitable to trace a word back to its derivation, and a very cursory research with the aid of a dictionary will reveal to us the suggestive fact that the words "thanks" and "think" have a common origin. The former, indeed, is an obsolete form of the latter, and required only in course of time and usage its special significance of pleased or grateful thinking.

With this in mind we may turn to a passage in the letter which Paul wrote to the Christians in Philippi of Macedonia—a letter which is keyed to a high note of spiritual rejoicing, and breathes throughout the gladness which should mark the life attuned to the purpose of God. You will find it in what we call the fourth chapter in the farewell words addressed by Paul to his friends. We quote from Doctor Goodspeed's translation of the New Testament:

"Have no anxiety about anything, but make all your wants known unto God in prayer and entreaty, with thanksgiving. Then through your union with Christ, Jesus, the peace of God, so far above any human thought, will guard your mind and thoughts. Now brothers let your minds dwell on what is true, what is worthy, what is right, what is pure, what is amiable, what is kindly—on everything that is excellent or praiseworthy. . . . Then God who gives peace will be with you."

It is at once apparent that Paul understood the intimate relation between "thinking" and "thanking." His admonition for the thoughtful life is manifestly the underlying basis for the thankful life. And the thankful life is the assurance of the guarding and companioning peace of God.

Paul sets forth the things upon which our minds should dwell—the true, the worthy, the right, the pure, the amiable or lovely, the kindly. In his philosophy it was vitally important that our minds should be occupied with such thoughts as these. He understood, as we are understanding better today, that what is in a man's thinking will determine the character of his life. He understood, also, that in order to keep one's thinking on a high and wholesome plane there must be effort and discipline.

It was not easy in Paul's day to do this. The world in which he lived was superficially provocative of much bitter, evil and unclean thought. In a city like Philippi there would be many things happening to the Christian and many things under his observation to evoke thinking on the baser level. Even in this joyous letter he felt it necessary to warn his friends with tears against those whose "appetites are their god; who glory in their shame, and who are absorbed in earthly matters."

It is not easy in our day to follow Paul's instruction and example—for he practiced splendidly his own teaching. What we do not actually see in the happening is brought to us in the news columns of the daily press—things that are evil, indecent, ugly, cruel. We cannot wholly ignore these things; Paul did not in his day. When necessary he spoke frankly of them, calling a spade a spade, in his letters. They are part of the world in which we live—of the world we must help. But our effort must be to discipline our thinking so that they will not flood and overwhelm our minds, excluding or submerging thought of better and finer things.

Even more difficult, perhaps, is it to escape the peril of those "who are absorbed in earthly matters." The tide of materialism is strongly set against the influences of the spiritual. Unless the channel is kept clear which admits the flow of God's thought we will find ourselves presently with minds incapable of grasping His purposes and principles, with minds which cannot meditate happily upon His truth or which will not respond to what is right and pure and lovely. The possibility of the thankful life, of the life which knows the comradeship of the God of peace, will be lost to us.

This life of right thinking and glad thanks is the appreciative life. Go to your dictionary again. To "appreciate" means to "set a value." The man who has adopted God's standards of values, who sees the true and the good and the lovely and lovable as the worthwhile and abiding things, is the real appreciator, and for him there will always be occasion for the grateful thinking which is thanks.

If you find little of it in your mind today there is something wrong with your standard of values. You are erring in the practice of "appreciation." You have set your heart upon things that are unworthy, temporary, illusory, and they are disappointing you. Take Paul's recipe. Begin to think about all that is excellent and praiseworthy. Take your mind out of the material shadows and into the sunlight of God's thought and love. Make your wants known to Him. The spirit of thanksgiving will enter your soul, and the "peace of God, so far above any human thought," will come to stand "guard" at your mind's gateway.

And so on this Thanksgiving day let all good Americans give thanks in spirit to the Pilgrims of Plymouth Rock; for turkey, cranberry sauce, and pumpkin pie; for their heroic struggle for freedom, and for their successful demonstation that their new land could be made to yield a living.

For the specialties served up at all good Thanksgiving dinners, Americans must bow to that friendly old Indian, Massasoit. It was he who introduced the cranberry and the pumpkin to the American people through the Pilgrims. Massasoit may have been a poor uneducated savage, but he and his people had a delightfully simple and fairly efficient agricultural system: Corn in the hill and a climbing bean; a pumpkin seed every five hills. Massasoit showed the Pilgrims the cranberry growing wild in the marshes, and had no difficulty whatever in demonstrating that roast turkey and cranberry sauce was an unbeatable combination. The Pilgrims, of course, knew all about turkeys, which had been taken across seas from Mexico and had become common on English farms before the year 1600. But it was the friendly Indian who as impresario brought together for the first time on any stage those three Thanksgiving stars—turkey, cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie.

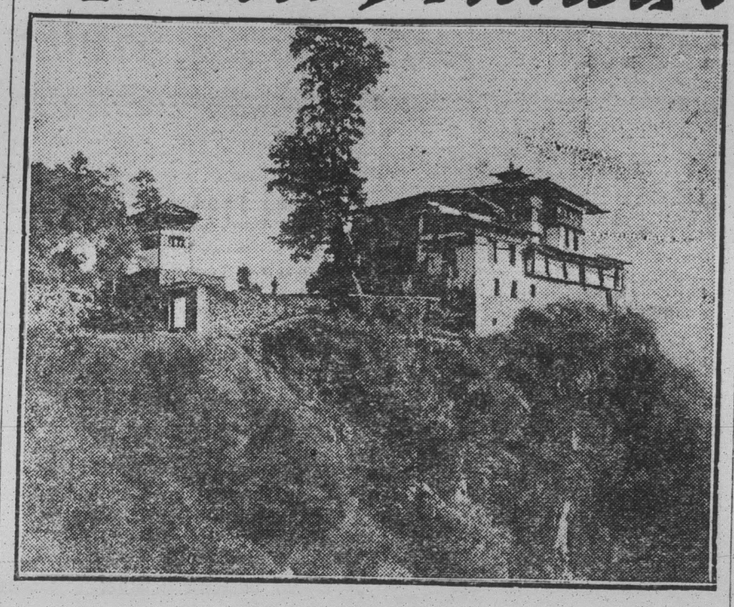
War Gas Made Useful

A war gas made by Prof. Gabriel Bertrand of the Pasteur institute, has found a peace time use in the silk industry. The silk cocoons are gassed by small quantities of chloropicrin, which has proved exceedingly practical and easy to handle. The gas has been tried in various silk-raising centers and has been found to possess marked advantages over killing the cocoons by baking or steaming. Under the prevalent methods of silk culture the cocoons have to be all sold within a period of two or three weeks, but the use of chloropicrin promises a practical way, it is said, for the growers to turn the cocoons into nonperishable merchandise which can be sold when the market is best.

Rogues' Who's Who

One of the most novel reference books in the world is now being compiled by an East London vicar for the protection of those who might otherwise be deceived by the plausible tales of professional beggars. It is a complete "Who's Who" of rogues of this class and gives the stories they tell in order to abstract money from the pockets of the tender-hearted. Most of the information in the volume has been gathered from the author's personal experience. He has found that most professional beggars have only one story apiece. After they have exploited it to the full in one district they move on to another.—Answers.

About Bhutan



A Monastery in Bhutan.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

THE Maharajah of Bhutan, who recently died, ruled over one of the least known states of Asia, a region about half the size of Tennessee, set down among the jagged spurs of the Himalayas on the northern edge of India. It can hardly be considered a part of India. Great Britain has with it, as with its neighbor, Nepal, only the most tenuous relations. Rather, Bhutan is a transition state between India and Tibet. It has many affiliations with the latter country, especially in the fields or religion and architecture.

Bhutan lies between 26 degrees 30 minutes and 28 degrees 30 minutes north latitude and 88 degrees 45 minutes and 92 degrees 15 minutes east longitude, and is bounded by British India on the south, the native state of Tawang, subject to Tibet, on the east, Tibet on the north, and Sikkim and the British district of Darjeeling on the west.

The mountain system may be most easily described as a series of parallel ranges running approximately in a southerly direction from the main ridge of the Himalayan range, where the peaks attain altitudes up to 24,000 and 25,000 feet. The principal rivers are the Am-mo-chu, Wang-chu, Mo-chu, and Kuru, or Lobrak-chu.

In climate it varies enormously from the ice and snow of the higher altitudes to the damp, overpowering heat in the deep valleys; and in vegetation from the magnificent grazing grounds in the higher regions, covered with alpine flowers, surrounded by snow peaks, high pine forests, rhododendrons, magnolias, chestnuts, and oaks, to luxuriant tropical palms, ferns, and bamboos.

Much Game; Fine People.

In eastern Bhutan the hills are densely clothed with forests, but with practically no population, as it is too fever-stricken to allow of anyone living there. They are, however, the haunt of almost every kind of wild animals—elephant, rhino, tiger, leopard, bison, mythun, sambur, cheetah, hog-deer, barking deer, etc. The river beds are full of runs leading to the various salt-licks which occur in the hills. It is an ideal place for shooting, but not easy to follow game, owing to the extreme steepness of the sandstone cliffs. The elephant in its wild state can go over or down nearly anything.

One of the first places of interest on the road after entering Bhutan is Dug-gye Jong, a fort built to protect this route from a possible raid by Tibet. The fort is magnificently situated on a projecting spur in the middle of a valley, with high snow peaks on either side and lovely views, looking down the valley.

The Bhutanese are fine, tall, well developed men, with an open, honest cast of face, and the women are comely, clean, and well dressed and excellent housekeepers and managers. Their religion is Buddhism and their language a dialect of Tibetan. The population of Bhutan is about 400,000.

The people are universally polite, civil, and clean. Both houses and temples are clean and tidy. In many of the houses the floors are washed and polished, and the refreshments they hospitably press on visitors are served in spotlessly clean dishes.

The clothes of the higher officials are always immaculate, their brocades and silks fresh and unstained in any way, and even the coolies are a great contrast to the usual Tibetan or Darjeeling coolie.

The amount of labor expended on their irrigation channels shows that they are an industrious and ingenious people. Their houses are all large and substantially built.

In the courtyards one finds retainers busily occupied in various trades, while the women of the household spin and weave and make clothes for the menfolk in addition to their ordinary duties. A great part of the country is under cultivation, and they raise sufficient crops to support the whole population, including the lamas, who are a great burden to the state.

Eggs Fed to Mules.

A typical Bhutanese luncheon consists of scrambled eggs and sweet rice, colored with saffron; murwah (beer) and chang (spirit), also colored with saffron; fresh milk, and a dessert of walnuts and dried fruits. There is a curious custom in Bhutan of feeding mules with eggs. For each pack animal on the trail two or three raw eggs are broken into a horn. The mule's head is held up, and the contents of the horn poured down its throat; and, strange to say, they seem to like the unnatural food. The Bhutanese always give this to their animals when they have any extra hard work to do, and say it keeps them in excellent condition.

The religion of Bhutan is an offshoot of Buddhism, and was introduced into these countries from Tibet by lamas from different monasteries who traveled south and converted the people. Most of the tenets of Buddha have been set aside, and those retained are lost in a mass of ritual; so nothing remains of the original religion but the name.

The Bhutanese excel in casting bells. The composition used for the best bells contains a good deal of silver, but they never make them of any great size, the largest being probably 24 inches in diameter and of about an equal height.

In iron work they are also good artificers, and many of their sword blades are of excellent manufacture and finish, and are still made from the charcoal iron. The polish they put on them is wonderful, and the blades almost look as though they had been silvered.

Every house of any importance has large workrooms attached in which weaving is carried on, and the stuffs produced, consisting of silks for the chiefs' dress, woolen and cotton goods, are excellent; and a good deal of embroidery is also done.

Basket Work and Matting.

Another industry in which the Bhutanese excel is basket work and fine matting, made from split cane. The baskets are beautifully woven of very finely split cane and some of the lengths are colored to form a pattern. They are made in two circular pieces, rounded top and bottom, and the two pieces fit so closely and well that they can be used to carry water. They are from 6 to 15 inches in diameter, and the Bhutanese use them principally to carry cooked rice and food. They also make much larger and stronger baskets, very much in the shape of a mulepannier, and these are used in a similar way for pack animals.

The mats are also very finely woven of the same material, with a certain amount of the split cane dyed to form patterns. They are delightfully fine and soft, so flexible they can be rolled up into quite a small space and very durable, and can be got in almost any size up to about 16 feet square, and even larger if they are required.

Possibly the excellence of the work produced in Bhutan owes much to the feudal system which still prevails there. Each penlop and jongpen has his own workmen among his retainers, men who are not paid by the piece and are not obliged either to work up to time or to work if the spirit is not in them, and consequently they put their souls into what they do, with the result that some pieces of splendid individuality and excellent finish are still made. No two pieces are ever quite alike, and each workman leaves his impress on his work.

The suspension bridges in Bhutan are very interesting and merit description. They consist of four or five chains of wrought iron made of welded links, each 15 to 18 inches in length. The three lower chains are tightened up to one level, and on them a bamboo or plank roadway is placed. The remaining chains, hanging higher up and further apart, act as side supports, and between them and the roadway there is generally a latticework of bamboo, or sometimes grass, in order that animals crossing may not put their legs over the side. The roadway is never more than three or four feet wide.

England Leads in Lenses

England is again taking its leadership in production of optical lenses. From 1848 to 1880 England led the world in the manufacture of the eyesight aids, but lost this supremacy to Germany and France by the time of the World war. Due to the war, however, research was again instituted and today England has taken its place as a leader in the field again. Nine tons of optical glass are being produced each month, or enough to supply the needs for the finest lenses

IN DAYS OF OUR FOREFATHERS

Women Prepared Their Own Medicines

The wise pioneer women learned to gather, in woods and fields, the remedies the Indians used. From the rafters of colonial houses, hung great bunches of dried roots and herbs. From these, in times of sickness, the busy mother brewed simple and powerful remedies.

From roots and herbs, Lydia E. Pinkham, a descendant of these sturdy pioneers, made her Vegetable Compound. The beneficial effects of this dependable medicine are vouched for by hundreds of women.

Mrs. Wm. Kraft of 2838 Vinewood Ave., Detroit, Mich., saw a Pinkham advertisement in the "News" one day and made up her mind that she would give the Compound a trial. At that time she was very weak. "After the first bottle," she writes, "I began to feel better and like a new woman after taking six bottles. I recommend it to others and always keep a bottle in the house."

Mrs. Gust Green of 401 Lincoln Park Boulevard, Rockford, Illinois, found herself in a condition similar to that of Mrs. Kraft. "I was weak and rundown," she writes, "but the Vegetable Compound has helped me and I feel better now. I recommend it to all women who need more strength."

Justice for Goldenrod

The goldenrod was once popular, and loved by the poets, but was later banned because of the accusation that it was the cause of hay fever. Now rumors indicate that justice is about to be done and the goldenrod restored to its old place in popular favor. The ragweed, and not the goldenrod, is now thought to be the offender. There are 37 varieties of the goldenrod and some of these varieties may be found in nearly every state in the Union. Thus goldenrod lovers will welcome its restoration.

"Tanlac did me so much good that I have been boosting it whenever I could," says B. Cressy, 959 Ellis St., San Francisco, a well-known electrical engineer.

Often this trouble was so bad I could hardly breathe. I was always constipated and lost weight fast. Of course I was nervous and at night I never slept soundly.

"Then a lady advised me to take Tanlac. I did, with wonderful result. It relieved all stomach trouble, gave me an appetite, cleansed my system of constipation and built up my strength. I have gained 26 pounds since taking Tanlac. And never felt better."

Drugs Excite the Kidneys, Drink Water

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

Freddy Was Hungry

The minister had come home with the Browns for dinner. When they sat down to the meal Mr. Brown asked the guest to say grace. This he did. However, the preacher spoke so softly that those at the table did not hear his whispered "Amen."

Freddy, though, had been watching the minister out of one corner of his eye, so when the family still sat with bowed heads after the grace was finished, Freddy exclaimed: "All heads up and let's go to eatin'!"—Kansas City Star.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING
UNION CHURCH COUNCIL

The Sunday School Council of the Mission Beach Union Church was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Coker, 716 Newport Court on Nov. 30th. The devotional was lead by Douglas T. Reed, pastor, and Mrs. E. L. Miller, S. S. Superintendent, conducted the business of the meeting. A large group of enthusiastic workers were present, and each was assigned a portion of the Sunday School and church work and the new graded literature for each class was chosen for the new year, also a motion was made that the Sunday school make a gift to the Community Chest from its funds.

Boy Scout's Activities

A splendid report of the Boy Scouts was made at the Sunday School Council meeting by Scoutmaster John Coker. Eighteen or twenty boys attend the weekly scout meetings, and speakers of note talk to the boys on these occasions, he reports. There are twelve regular scouts, four were advanced in the past week, and four more will be ready to pass tests within a week or so. Among the tests are the fire test, and outdoor cooking test. The Mission Beach Boy Scouts have taken part in every scout activity, and on Nov. 27th, they were the guests of the U. S. S. Melville, repair ship to the torpedo boat flotilla. They also attended the Scout Camp at Fort Rosecrans on Halloween week end.

Many persons declare they notice an all-round improvement in these boys since the Scout band was organized here, and a rising vote of thanks was tendered Scoutmaster Coker by the Mission Beach Sunday School.

JACK LUMLEY CAUGHT AND HELD FOR EXTRADITION FROM MINNESOTA

A news despatch from Sacramento states that a second requisition for the extradition of Jack Lumley, alleged to be wanted in San Diego for obtaining money under false pretenses, has been forwarded by Governor Richardson to the governor of Minnesota. Lumley is alleged to have represented to an automobile dealer that he owed but $70 on an automobile and the dealer allowed him his equity in a new car. Later, it is said that it was found the amount due on the first car was more than $1,000. It is claimed Lumley took the automobile to Oregon, where he was arrested for extradition, but is reported to have skipped fugitive bond and went to Minnesota.
